There once was a storm of ice that hit the town not once, but twice.
The cold made limbs numb
Many fell on their bum and scorned this weather of vice

-Elizabeth Romel

Adult

In East Windsor, the weather's a fight
Rain floods the streets, then snow falls at night
The roads full of cracks
Wind rattles the shacks
And nothing in town works quite right!

Andrew Hettrick

In spring, when the weather's just right
The flowers "Blume", what an amazing sight!
With rain and with sun
They grow one by one
They dance in the warm, golden light!

-David Blume
